Media Release

Lights! . . . Camera! . . . Action!

The students who visit the Challenger Learning Center often have the opportunity to work with the news media and be featured in our publications. Photographers from newspapers and television stations like to feature students in special news releases, and we like to feature students in our local newsletter and advertising publications.

Please indicate below if you do or do not give permission for your child to be photographed and/or interviewed by members of the press and our Challenger Learning Center staff.
